RESPONSIBILITIES:

Under the overall supervision of the Special Representative of the Secretary-General (SRSG) and Head of UNOWAS, the Senior Police Advisor will support the Mission's leadership on issues related to law enforcement, including transnational organized crime and violent extremism.

The incumbent will be responsible for, but not limited to, the performance of the following duties:

- Monitor and analyze implications of the general dynamics and trends in West Africa and the Sahel with regard to police, crime and law enforcement issues;
- Provide strategic advice and support to the Special Representative of the Secretary-General in his consultations with regional States and organizations on issues related to law and order enforcement, including on transnational organized crime, illicit trafficking and violent extremism;
- In close collaboration with the Senior Military Adviser, promote and support, as appropriate, national, regional and sub-regional institutions in their efforts to address the impact of emerging security threats from a law enforcement perspective;
- Support regional and national actors in the development and implementation of police and law enforcement strategies, as relevant, including on transnational organized crime, illicit trafficking and violent extremism;
- In collaboration with the Security Sector Reform advisor, and other relevant UN entities and other actors, support the development and implementation of respective national SSR strategies applying democratic governance best practices.
- Establish and develop working relations between UNOWAS and police and law enforcement entities in the region; liaise with specialized UN and non-UN entities, including the UN Office on Drugs and Crime and INTERPOL.
- Foster effective working relationships and joint analysis with other components of the Office, Peace and Development Advisers (PDAs) in the region, UN Agencies, Funds and Programs, national military/civilian authorities, the diplomatic community, international and multilateral organizations, NGOs including civil society, media and other key stakeholders.
- Facilitate the establishment of a coordinated system between the Special Representative of the Secretary-General and all States in West Africa and the Sahel as well as with regional organizations, including ECOWAS, African Union, the Accra Initiative, the Alliance of Sahel States to gather information related to law enforcement, including on transnational organized crime, illicit trafficking and violent extremism;
- In collaboration with the Gender Adviser, support gendered analysis and mainstreaming of gender in police reforms and law enforcement, including in efforts to combat and prevent transnational organized crime and violent extremism, consistent with various Security Council resolutions on Women, Peace and Security.

- Provide short and long-term analysis on developments affecting regional peace and security, as well as the implementation of UNOWAS mandate.
- Support UN Crisis Management Cells established by the Department of Political and Peacebuilding Affairs, as required.
- Represent the Office in meetings, as directed.
- Perform any other duties as assigned by the direct supervisor or his/her designee in fulfilment of the mission mandate.
