RESPONSIBILITIES:

Under the guidance and supervision of the Special Representative of the Secretary-General (SRSG), the incumbent will be responsible for providing strategic leadership of the police component of the mission; advising the SRSG on all matters related to police; and providing advisory support and assistance to national authorities to develop local police institutions to function in accordance with internationally acceptable standards of democratic policing. The Police Commissioner is also responsible for the effective and efficient management, supervision, welfare, and discipline of all personnel assigned to the Police Component of the mission in accordance with the United Nations' rules, regulations, and mission mandate. Within the limits of delegated authority, the Police Commissioner will be responsible for, but not limited to, the performance of the following duties:

- Advising the SRSG and other UN Mission leadership on police-related issues and providing regular reports on key Police component programs and mandate implementation.
- Participating in Mission Senior management team meetings contributing towards the smooth operations of the Mission.
- Advising the SRSG on matters related to support requirements for the developmental needs of the local Police in line with the international standards of policing.
- Providing overall oversight and guidance regarding all UN Police operational activities within the framework of Mission mandate.
- Managing, guiding, developing, and training staff under his/her supervision as well as properly utilizing all available police resources including the formed police units, for mandate implementation.
- Making proposals to the Police Division on the skill set and qualification of the UN Police component personnel required for the efficient implementation of the UN Police mandate. Ensuring timely and transparent staffing of positions within the Police component in accordance with police officers' background, expertise, and experience in compliance with the principles of respect for diversity, as well as geographic and gender balance.

- Regularly consulting and collaborating with UN agencies, international and national NGOs, judicial officers, correction officers, bilateral/multilateral donors, members of the civil society, and members of the host state national government on police issues relevant to the mandate.
- Coordinating and supporting UN Human Rights Office, Office of Humanitarian Assistance, Elections, and other relevant components within the mission agencies in relation to police monitoring, development of accountability mechanisms, and police training.
- Providing police-specific advice on the overarching National Security Policy and its relevant frameworks that define the role, command structures, and accountability of the Congolese National Police.
- Providing advice and guidance to national authorities regarding decisions to take on the holistic reform and development of their police system which will include but not limited to police legislative review, instituting efficient/effective administrative and management procedures, drafting, and implementing operational policies/guidelines, assisting in the rehabilitation of infrastructure, facilities and human resource development through training and mentoring.
- Providing advisory support and assistance to the Government of the Democratic Republic of Congo (DRC) in the development of an overall strategic plan for the Congolese National Police and helping to implement those plans through a wide range of consultative processes in coordination with international and national partners.
- Regularly consulting and collaborating with the Head of the UN Military component on the joint use of police and military personnel in response to various security contingencies in the mission area, particularly on the use of formed police units in response to crowd management and other possible public order incidents.
- Developing mechanisms for the collection and institutionalization of best practices and lessons learned by the Police Component.
- Performing such other functions as are consistent with the mandate provided by the Security Council Resolution and as may be required by the SRSG, relating to the management of the UN Police component.
